About

This player is a mythical sighting. You will see him once per 2 sessions or never at all. He is also called Necrat because he became a rat sized person for no reason in the later sessions (After session 15 or so on).

History

The first emergence of Organic_Program was in Metro City, in order to help a new player. The second one was in Stairway to Heaven, to prevent Dreaded_Dust from breaking any rules.

Organic_Program was one of the rarer sights in Era 1, with their presence most felt when they ran their own restaurant called 'Organic Canteen', and when they attended both weddings. The most obvious proof they left was a signed book called the 'Revelation' to the Stairway to Heaven citizens.

Once the metagaming sessions started, Organic_Program and Endless_Breeze would start a rat epidemic, rummaging through chests in order to find cheese.

Fun Facts:

Organic_Program would be the only god that would be killed by players 3 times!

Also the god that has the least amount of flying distance compared to every other god.
