About

Soft_Serenity was the very egotistical healer of Podzil. Mainly because she wanted to become the best healer in the whole Era. She resided in Podzil's Hoptal which was also her home.

History

Soft began this era by travelling the ocean with another player named Nautical_Stream. After they had explored this ocean they proceeded to approach a group of people spotted near the coast, which would soon be named Podzil. She would end up death resetting for the first 2 sessions to collect loot from 3 mob spawners from the caves beneath the sky-base where they resided. After gaining the loot, she then proceeded to ask the only blacksmith at the time, Final_Void to create a nether portal with a nearby lava pool. Soft would proceed to death reset until the nether was safe. This gave Podzil a huge lead in resources needed to create potions.

After securing the nether, Soft would start levelling healer and ended up putting the whole of Podzil into a food shortage accidentally with how fast she was levelling. Eventually she reached level 5 after around 4 sessions. By session 10 she would be in fully enchanted diamond armor.

After being geared she thought of doing something new. instead of being in the nether to build, she would instead netherite mine. This continued for awhile and ended up getting most of Podzil's netherite supply. This only grew her ego even more.

By session 16, she had almost full netherite and a lust for blood. So she schemed a plan with civ-mate Molten_Sun. They were to lure unsuspecting players from NPC into the nether, where the laws of the Era ceased to exist, to kill them. Their plan was to start a world war. This started by killing poor Sunlit_Frog of NPC which alerted the whole nation into a state of panic. This lead some high ranking players from NPC to investigate, but was called off due to the risk of being in the nether.

After hiding in the nether for a good amount of time, a skilled fighter of NPC, Drowned_Angel found her. This would eventually lead into a grueling fight with Soft coming out on top. Drowned feeling defeated begged for mercy and mercy was given. But not for free.

After returning from the fight she gave her accomplice, Molten_Sun the netherite armour once owned by Drowned. Returning to Podzil they were ridiculed and eventually jumped, where they escaped and a fight between the 2 and Podzilites, Once civmates and friends now fighting over the entrance to Stairway to Heaven. Soft and Molten eventually held them off but not with ease.

They then proceeded to launch a counter attack at Podzil, which seemed successful at first but little did Soft know the roaring march of NPC's finest soldiers were on their way as they fought. This lead to both Soft's and Molten's death in the tunnel of Metro.

Nothing much happened after this, Soft got full netherite back and stole from NPC, but they couldn't do anything about it. (They tried.)
